

Birthday of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru is celebrated as Children's Day in India. India's first Prime Minister, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, was born on November 14. Apart from being known for his skills as a statesman, Nehru was also immensely fond of children. He thought children are the future of a Nation and they need utmost care. They win over our hearts with their angelic eyes and innocent smiles. Nehru wished his birthday to be celebrated as Children's Day. Since his death in 1963, his birthday is being celebrated as children's Day in India. So the Children's Day is dedicated to the children of India. Children are loved by one and all.. Children's Day is not just a day to let the future generation have its say. It is a day to remember a leader who, in his quiet but determined way, laid the foundation to convert a nascent nation into a world power. The more popular and famous of Nehru's pictures show him with children. He is always called as Chacha Nehru (Nehru Uncle).

Children's Day in Orissa

Children's Day is celebrated all over Orissa, especially at the school level. There are also community activities with children's involvement. It is the day when children all over Orissa are offered sweets and gifts. All most all schools have special programmes for the day, with the students managing it all. Various cultural, social programmes are held on this occasion. Schools as well as various organizations arrange Debate competition, Song competition, Drawing Competition etc. for children to celebrate the occasion. Children are also treated to a movie and lunch. Television networks have in the recent years started to air special programmes all day long for kids on 14th November, making this day a special treat.

Survival, Living Standards, Environment

Name, Identity, Care

Protection from Harm

Education, Culture, Development

Information, Freedom of Thought and speech, Participation

Know Child Rights

Happy Children's Day